Nazarene Church at Orland Park Has New Pastor

The Church of the Nazarene at Orland Park has a new pastor, the Rev. Dale Galloway, appointed by the Rev. Mark R. Moore, of Bradley, the district superintendent.

The Rev. Mr. Galloway assumed his new duties this month and for a time will commute between Bourbonnais and Orland Park. The pastor is a senior student in the Olivet Nazarene college at While attending Olivet, the Rev. Mr. Galloway has done extensive evangelistic traveling thru the Midwest. His home is at Columbus, O. and his father, the Rev. H. S. The Orland Park pastor has been active in his college religious life. He was chosen to preach the annual College Day Sermon at the Olivet College church in his sophomore year. This past year he was elected vice president of the Student Prayer Band for the coming term. He also will be writing the religious column for the college newspaper this year.

Rips 15-foot Hole in Driver's Residence; Filled Most of Room

A truck crash on Front street in Mokena Sunday night injured the driver and wrecked his home. No estimate has been forthcoming on the damage.

Driver of the truck, Marion Crider, 203 Front street, who is employed by Blaine Saxton, an excavating contractor, had been working Sunday and was returning home about 7 o'clock driving one of his employers vehicles.

Crider told Mokena Police Officer Joseph Heim, that as he approached Division street from the west he met an east bound car and also ahead of him was a parked vehicle. Crider said he applied his brakes but they failed and to avoid a collision, turned his wheels sharply to the right.

He did not strike either car but the maneuver caused his weight to bear on the left door of the cab, the report states. The door flew open and Crider was thrown into the street.

The truck, running free, crashed into the side of the building where Crider resides with his wife and young son. The building, owned by Everett Cooper, Mokena banker, was formerly a combination store and residence on the south side of the street. The truck crashed thru the wall and into the front room which had been space occupied by a store. It came to rest against an inside wall with the entire vehicle in the room.

The space had been used as a play room by the Crider boy but fortunately he and his mother had gone to church. Had either or both of them been in the room when the truck came thru the wall they probably would have been severely injured if not killed.

Crider was bruised and shaken and cut about the chin, but was not hospitalized.

Furniture and playthings of the Crider boy were demolished. The truck, a large dump type, tore a hole approximately 15 feet wide in the wall, from the ground to the eaves.

The family is still in occupancy and a large tarpaulin has been used to cover the hole.

New Lenox Board Annexes Drake Home on U.S. 30

The home of William Drake on the north side of the Lincoln-Highway has been annexed to New Lenox. The property is just east of a gasoline bulk plant. This plant and another residence immediately to the west are still outside the village. The property on south side out to and including the Economy Market was annexed many months ago.

No action has been taken yet on the proposed storm water drain for the Pine street and Second ave. area. The village has approximately $5,000 it can spend for such a project and on figures obtained believed that it could be done.

An engineering firm that made the survey for the proposed sanitary sewer and water system—Woodman and Baxter of Crystal Lake, said that to build a proper drainage line would cost approximately $18,000.

More Homes In Prospect for Orland Park

Developers of prospective subdivisions in the Orland Park area appeared before the village board of that community last Monday night to discuss the subject.

One of the pieces, made up of 115 acres adjacent to the village on its eastern border, between 145th and 147th streets, may become an addition to the municipality. A spokesman for the developers indicated that they would want to annex the property to the village.

The other piece is smaller, 52 acres between 135th and 139th streets on 82nd ave. It was proposed that it would be divided into 169 lots.

The number of lots proposed in the larger tract was not given at the meeting Monday.

In both cases the board advised the prospective developers to submit plans and plats to the Orland Park planning commission. The village board does not act in such cases until they have been studied by the planning group and recommendations made.

In both instances spokesmen stated that the persons interested were prepared to meet the terms of the village ordinance which require paved streets, curb and gutter, and sewer and water in new subdivisions either within the corporate limits or a mile and a half radius.

Orland Park Hills developers are now working in Unit 3 and the village board has accepted the streets in Units 1 and 2.

The village of Orland Park is strict in the enforcement of its subdivision ordinances and subdivisions who enter into contracts with the board are held to all the provisions.

A tax levy ordinance for $73,000 was adopted by the board but only a fraction of this amount will be realized thru taxes, it was stated by officials.

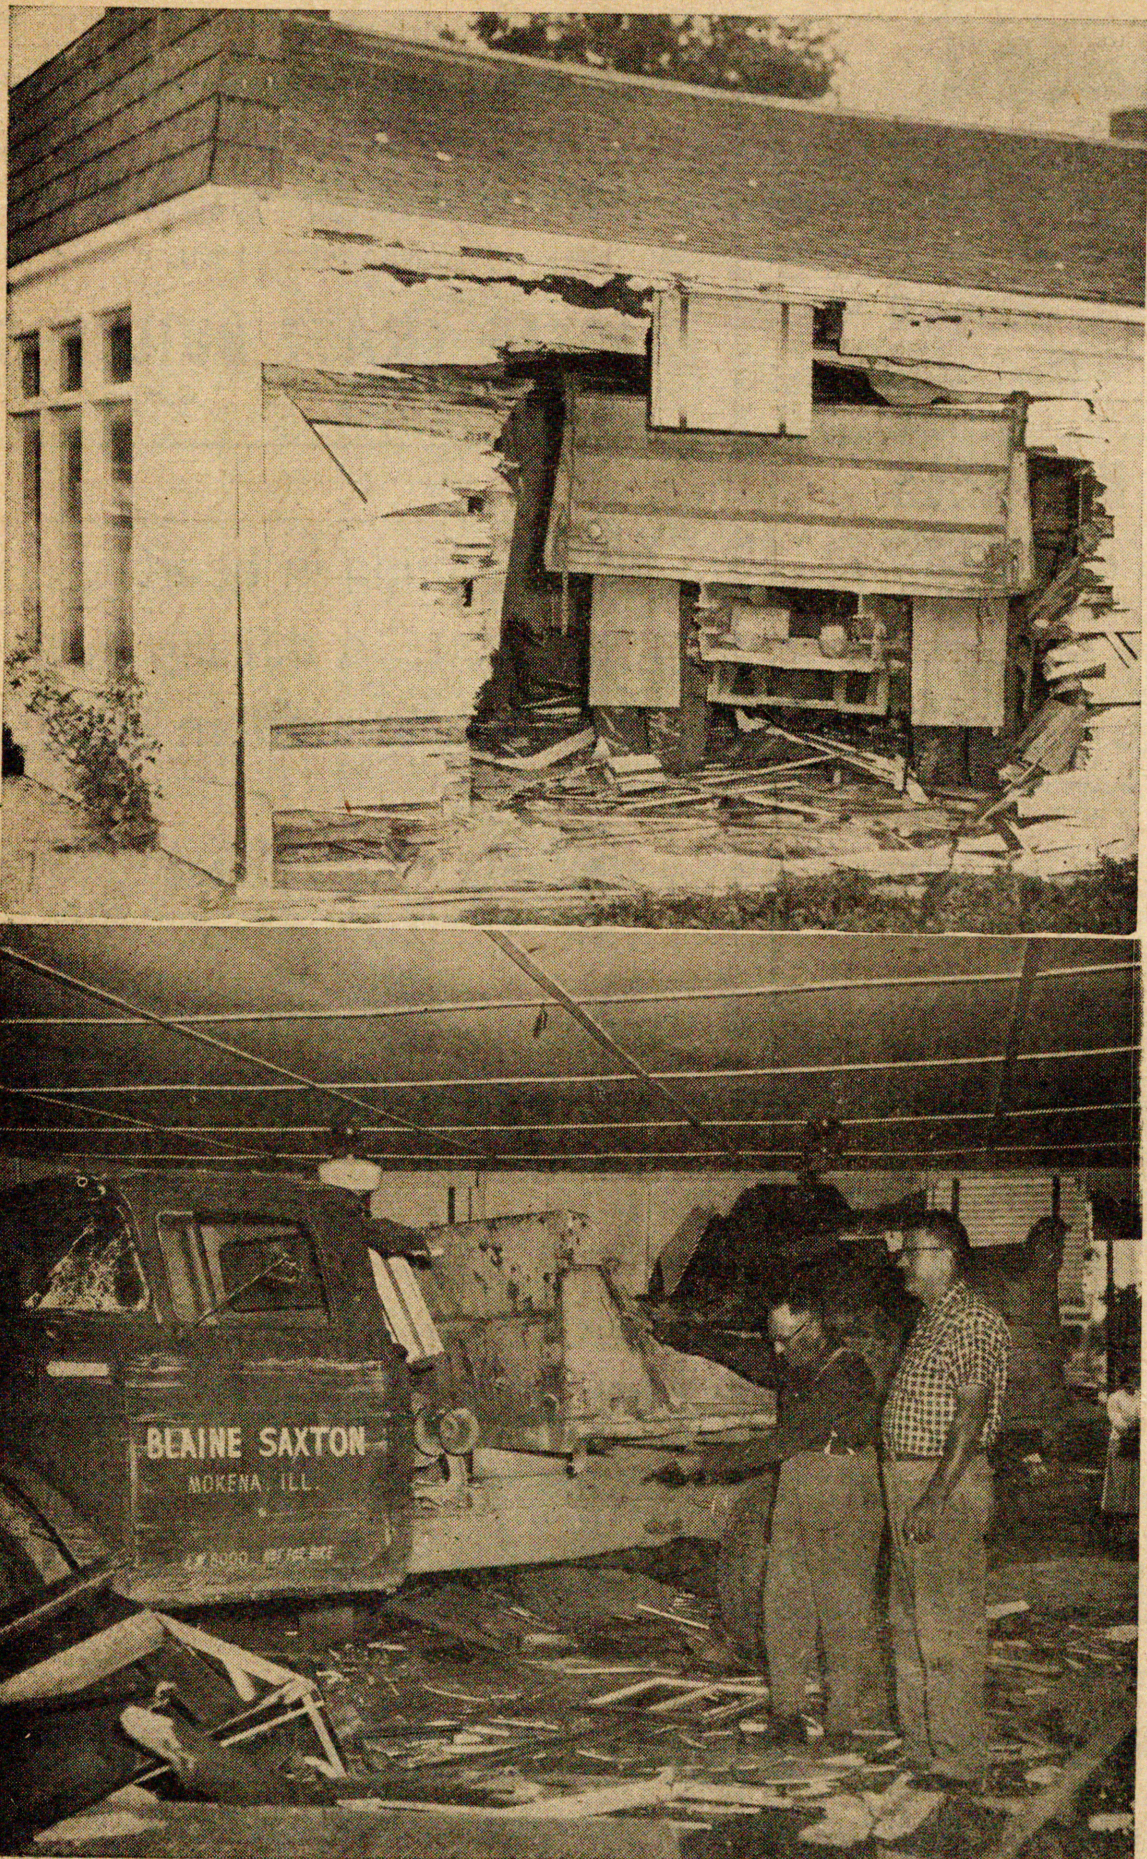

Figures setting forth estimated costs of the proposed sanitary system for Orland Park were not completed in time to be presented at Monday's meeting. There was some other data too that has to be prepared before figures are available, it was said.

Orland C. of C. To Sponsor Golf Tourney Aug. 26

The Orland Park Chamber of Commerce is to sponsor a summer outing Thursday, Aug. 25, in the form of a golf tournament at Silver Lake course.

Harold Meyer, of the White-Meyer millwork firm, is chairman of the committee in charge.

Cups and other prizes are to be awarded.

WRECKS HIS HOME—The upper picture shows the rear end of a truck driven by Marion Crider, that went out of control Sunday night and plunged thru the side wall of his home at 203 Front st., Mokena. The lower photo shows Village Trustee Willard Munch and Barney Hostert, automobile dealer, inspecting the wreckage.

People outside are clearly visible thru the huge hole torn in the wall. Fortunately Mrs. Crider and the couple's young son had gone to church. Anyone in the room where the truck came hurtling thru the wall would have been fortunate to have escaped injury or possibly death.

"Gabbie (Kaye's German 'sister') attends an all girl school in nearby Ulm and has arranged for me to go with her. Almost all the girls speak English as it is required. They go to school six days a week from 7:45 to 12:15. Three days a week Gabbie rises at 5:30

Mokena Picnic

Lions Sponsor Community Event

The annual Mokena community picnic, sponsored by the Lions club of that village, is to be a two day affair this year, September 19 and 20, afternoons and evenings.

While designated as a picnic the affair is expected to carry some of the features that formerly marked homecoming celebrations.

Various organizations in the community are expected to have booths and there will be games and entertainment, with dancing in the evening. The dancing will be sponsored by the Teens.

The Lions club will furnish prizes for the races and other contests planned for youngsters of grade school and preschool age as well as treat them to ice cream and pop on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 20.

A meeting to formulate plans for the event is to be held next Thursday night, Aug. 20 at the home of Larry Istel, general chairman. It is expected that every organization in the community will have a representative at the meeting.

The organizations may keep half of their net profits. The other half is to go to the park board. A park district has been organized in the Mokena area that will be supported by taxes but the tax returns will not be available for a year so the money donated now will give the organization some funds with which to operate, it was explained.

50 Years Old

Mokena Bank Observes Birthday

The Mokena State bank will celebrate its golden anniversary tomorrow in the same location where it had its beginning 50 years ago.

The bank opened its doors at 8:30 o'clock on the morning of Aug. 14, 1909.

The original stockholders first conceived the idea of a bank, then purchased a lot and put up a building. The structure was of solid brick and a stone front and the one room it formed was sufficient until the early 1920's when another room was added to the rear, doubling the space.

In 1956 another addition was begun that was completed in February, 1957. This gave the institution four times the space it had originally.

The present capitalization of $100,000 is also four times the amount of the original capital stock. After some years the directors doubled the capital stock, making it $50,000 and while it is $100,000 there have been no purchasers. The new stock has been divided among the original stockholders or their heirs so that now they have four shares for each one originally purchased.

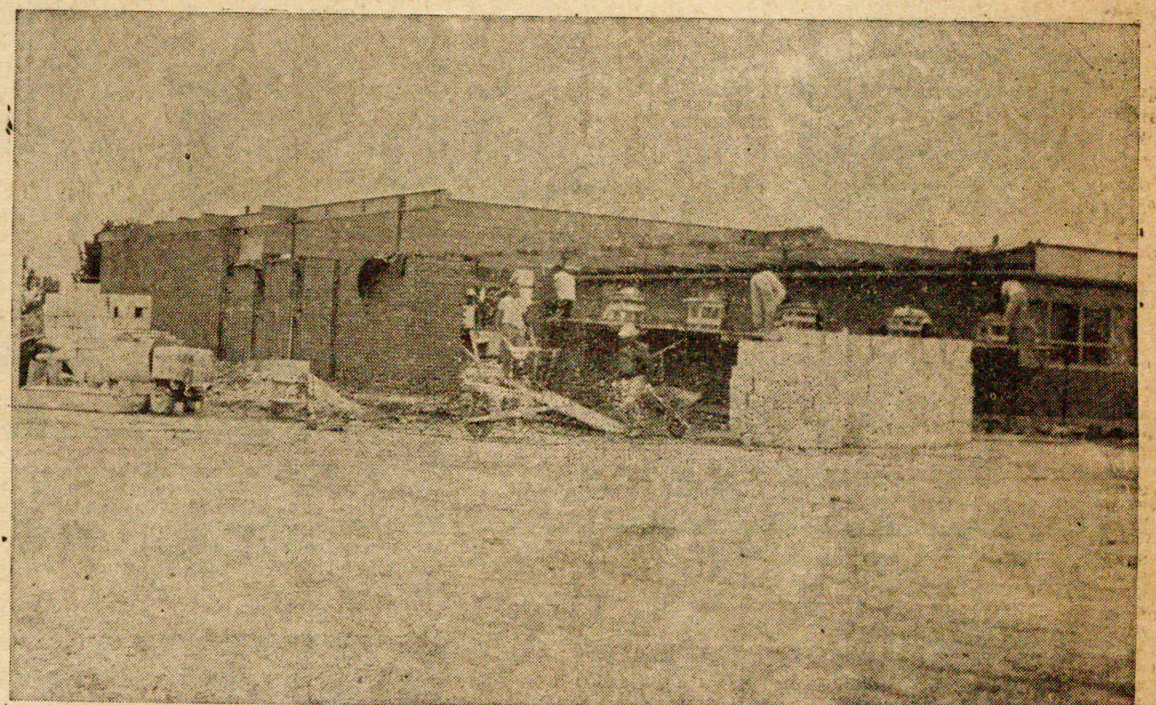

There were 14 directors in the original organization. The first officers were Christ Bechstein, president; George H. Cooper, vice president; William H. Bechstein, secretary; Frank Liess, cashier and Jennie Liess Cooper, assistant cashier.

Jennie Liess, who incidentally received the first pass book issued to depositors, was married to a Cooper who was no relation of the vice president and neither of them were related to the present cashier, Everett Cooper.

The president of the bank today is Mrs. Ernest G. (Rose) McMahon, daughter of the first president.

A bulletin board has been prepared carrying mementoes of earlier days in the community, including pictures and letters that should be of interest to visitors at the anniversary celebration tomorrow.

The public is invited to visit the bank between 8:30 and 3:00 and 5:30 and 8 o'clock on Friday. Coffee will be served.

PUSH WORK ON SCHOOL—Crews of bricklayers are busy, as you can see, building up the walls of this addition to Carl Sandburg high school. The school, like most of them in the growing southwest area, is now in the midst of its second expansion program in a losing fight to keep up with enrollment increases. Carl Sandburg has two other building sites and it looks as tho it won't be many years before they will have to be put to use.

Orland Park Police Team Continues Unbeaten

Thursday, August 13, 1959

Hit by a rash of injuries to key players and by vacations, the Orland Park Police team still didn't make excuses and badly routed visiting Posen last Sunday in Orland by a 14-0 count.

Orland has just one game left on the season's card and should very easily make it one without that loss.

Championship will shortly take the center of stage for the Orland lads.

Ronnie Yunker pitched a fine game as he struck out two and gave up only 5 hits.

Orland got "lots of help" from the pitchers of Posen. They received 14 passes and had two men hit by pitched balls. Orland scored 14 runs with only 10 hits.

Duane Erickson, usual pitcher, went to first base and collected three hits for top hitting honors in the game.

Bill Zinn's boys are looking toward the championship games just a few weeks away. If the injury list is shortened and the boys return from vacation - Orland should give

Peotone Route Orland in 1st Playoff Tilt

Peotone bombed the Orland Park Babe Ruth entry in the first of a best of three playoff title series for this intermediate area at Peotone last Friday, 14-2.

Vaniten proved something too difficult for the Orland Park hitters to solve. Vaniten struck out 10, walked only one, and yielded a scant three hits, in going the route to give Peotone the edge in the play off, 1-0.

Last evening the teams both met at Orland Park diamond. The results were not known by press time. But this was the do or die meeting for Orland.

The Peotone field was a rather difficult one for the Orland team to adjust to. They made four very costly errors, which caused the lopsided defeat.

Orland's pitchers also experienced some real control trouble as Zinn and Halverson gave up 10 passes in about five innings of work.

A. S. A. Holds Regional Tourney at Frankfort

An American Softball association regional tournament will be held at Frankfort during the next two weekends. The winner earns advancement to the sectional tournament at Aurora, which opens Aug. 24.

Six teams have enrolled in the tourney - Frankfort, Steger, Crete, Downers Grove, Oak Park, and the Polish Democrats, Chicago Heights, Frankfort and the Polish Democrats are favored.

Frankfort now boasts a 14-5 record, and is riding atop a six game winning streak. The most recent victim was Matteson, who fell before Frankfort's batting power 11-9 last Thursday evening. Noble Lach, the steady Frankfort hurler, notched his 11th win against only two losses.

The win drew Frankfort into a tie for the lead with Matteson; each club as 12 and 4 league records. Each team has four games remaining on the Wilco Softball League schedule, and if a tie exists at the end, a best of three series will decide the league champion.

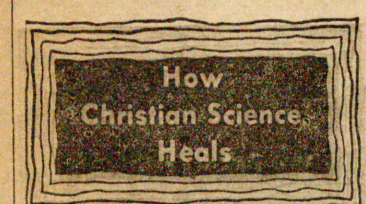

Following is a schedule of the ASA tourney mentioned above:

1. Friday, Aug. 14 - Oak Park vs. Polish Democrats.
2. Sat., Aug. 15 - Downers Grove vs. Crete.
3. Thurs., Aug. 20 - Steger vs. Winner game 1.
4. Friday, Aug. 21 - Frankfort vs. Winner game 2.
5. Sat., Aug. 22 - Winner game 4 vs. Winner game 3.

All games are played at 8 p.m. under the Frankfort lights.

Church Softball League Comes

The Tinley Park Church league is getting set for the final week of the season which could show three teams in a tie for first place. Zion Lutheran and St. George Holy Name will meet next week, and if Zion wins it will mean a three-way tie, provided that the Methodists beat the Reformed church - which they are expected to do.

Monday all three of the front running teams continued winning as Zion took the St. George Knights, 22-9, Holy Name beat the Reformed, 18-4, and the Methodists licked the Nazarenes, 30-2. All were lopsided victories for the top teams.

The Knights led Zion for 3 innings and had a tie game going into the top of the 5th when the Lutherans broke loose with 8 big runs. That was just the beginning, as they scored 6 more in the final two frames.

Logan Rick, Dean Propp, and Wally Eggert each collected 4 hits for the winning Lutheran team.

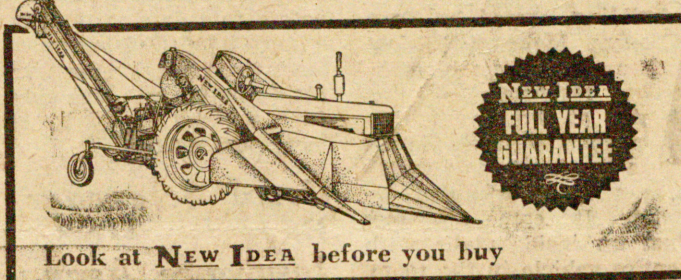

The Methodists caught the Nazarenes with players on vacation and a few injured and demonstrated some of its vaunted power in an explosive 30-2 win. Hopman had a pair of home runs and Coley had one for the Methodists. The Methodists had only 22 hits in the contest, but 9 errors greatly aided the cause for them.

Holy Name easily took the Reformed into camp with a convincing warm-up for the battle next week with Zion Lutheran for what could be the championship game. If Holy Name wins this one and wins the other game they have to play with the Nazarenes, they will have the

Will Dedicate Junior Midget Track

Schedule Program for Sunday

Junior midget racing is in full swing at Cooper stadium near Orland Park and Sunday, Aug. 16, the track will be formally opened and dedicated.

The stadium, built on land donated for the purpose by Glenn Cooper, is located on 159th st., half a block east of U. S. 45. The program is to begin at 1 o'clock.

Mayor W. R. Schussler, Jr. of Orland Park, will officiate at the ribbon cutting and the Carl Sandburg high school band will play. The Sandburg superintendent, William O. Fisher, will also attend.

Among the guests will be two personalities from the auto racing world, Tony Bet-

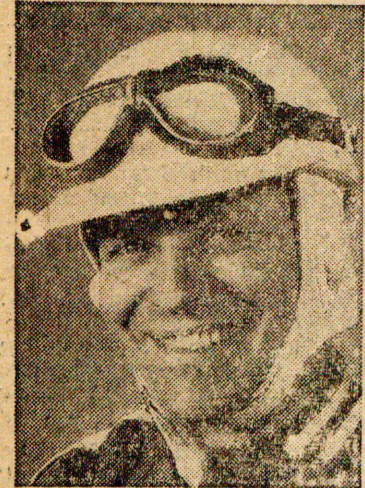

Emil Andres

Bettenhausen and Andres are both veteran race drivers. Tony has been in the business 22 years and has driven in the 500 classic at Indianapolis 13 times. He was U. S. national champion in 1951 and again in 1958 and besides the big cars has driven in midget and stock car races.

Andres has appeared in the 500 10 times, was midwest champion in 1940 and is a past president of a dirt track organization, the 100 miles an Hour club.

The track to be formally dedicated Sunday was built to provide racing space for the small fry. While the track is yet to be formally opened it has been in use and last Sunday some 700 persons were there to watch the youngsters.

According to a Gallup poll, 50% of the American people think it would be a good idea for President Eisenhower to invite Premier Krushchev to visit this country. 36% say no, and 14% are undecided.

Some of the young drivers will receive cups and some spectators too are to get awards.

There will be no admission charge.

It is expected that the event will draw between 800 and 1,000 spectators.

Moose Keglers Meet Monday to Outline Plans

The Harvey Moose Lodge Men's bowling league has just been announced, thru its vice-president, Everett Bray of Rt. 1, Tinley Park, that the league 1959-1960 season will open on Thursday, Sept. 3 at 6:45 p.m. at Coral Bowling Lanes on Dixie Hwy. at 167th st.

Other than Bray the officers are Ronald Dillon, of Harvey, president and Ed Kiersey, also of Harvey, secretary. They can be called at the following numbers of any Men's league information: Dillon, at Edison 1-6963; Bray, Kellogg 2-3854; Kiersey, Edison 1-1038.

Bray also announced that all interested bowlers for the men's league should make it a must to attend the ever-important pre-season meeting to be held at the lodge home at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Aug. 17. It will be decided how many men will bowl and how many new times will be added to the present schedule. This all came about after the regular schedule was arranged. This year there has been an increased interest shown in the Men's league, thus making new times necessary.

"If you cannot make this meeting be sure you contact one of the officers before the meeting, so as not to be disappointed after the season opens," Bray said.

An all-star match game is to be rolled at 12 noon August 30 at Coral Lanes.

Hapless Cards Upset Athletics; Homer Little League in Turmoil

The hapless Cards in the Homer Little League rose up to smite the mighty Athletics, 9-7. It was only the second win of the season for the Cards. However, both of its wins have come at the expense of the A's.

The Tigers scored 6 runs in the third inning of the game with the Cards to win going away, 7-4.

The Cards have shown marked improvement in their play.

Kladis Seeks 2nd Spot in Midget Auto Standings

Chicago favorite Danny Kladis hopes to clinch second place in the track point standings when midget auto racing resumes Saturday night at Joliet Memorial Stadium.

Last weekend's main event victory was the third of the season for Kladis, but the first since June 6. It kept him in strong contention for season honors.

Kladis has given up trying to unseat defending champion Bob Tattersall of Streator, whose third place finish in the feature last weekend virtually assured him of a second straight title, and third since 1956. Tattersall has five feature victories to his credit.

Another Chicagoan, Tony Lenti, recently has been making a comeback after experiencing several mediocre seasons.

Among the other drivers in contention Saturday night will be Byron Fisher of Lemont, brothers Pat Dellegrazie of Evanston, George Sillery of Chicago, Jim Hurtubise of Englewood, Calif., Willie Wildhaber of Dwight, Bill Knight of Kokomo, Ind., and Jolietans Bernie Wilhelm, Russ Swedler and Bob Hauck.

Time trials will start at 7:30 p.m. and the first race at 8:30 p.m. There will be four heat races, a handicap, 15 lap semi feature and 25 lap feature.

Today you need $12,000 to live as you once did on $5,000 and keeping up with the Joneses is out of the question. It's not even certain that the Joneses can keep up.

From Bill Jacobs Chevrolet!

Why You Get MORE for your Money in the big new . . .

1959 CHEVROLET

Independent experts and official figures prove Chevrolet's ahead of its field in seven big ways—BEST BRAKES . . . In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR*, Chevy out-stopped both the other leading low-priced cars—and why not? Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. BEST TRADE-IN . . . Check the figures in any official N. A. D. A.+ Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." BEST STYLE . . . Popular Science magazine sums it up: "The fact is, in its price class the Chevy establishes a new in daring styling . . ." It's the only low-priced car that's unmistakably modern in every line. BEST ECONOMY . . . No doubt about this: two Chevrolet Sixes won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car. BEST ROOM . . . Official dimensions reported to A. M. A.+ make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. BEST ENGINE . . . Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As Sports Cars Illustrated puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." BEST RIDE . . . You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. But Motor Trend magazine expresses it this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." No wonder more people are buying Chevrolets in 1959 than any other car!

Judith Roe-Ronald Fulton Wed at Rites in Zion Lutheran Church

The wedding of Miss Judith Lynne Roe and Ronald Thomas Fulton was solemnized in the Zion Lutheran church of Tinley Park at a 7 p.m. ceremony, officiated by the Rev. Walter C. Leibfarth of Oak Forest, on Saturday, Aug. 8.

The bride, a former Tinley resident, is the daughter of Mrs. Shirley Blaylock, of Chicago. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Fulton, 6653 W. 173rd, Tinley Park.

The church was decorated with baskets of gladioli and white satin ribbon. Candelabras graced the altar.

The organist was Fred Erickson and the soloist Roger Carlson, who sang, "Oh Promise Me."

Escorted to the altar by her father, Richard H. Roe, the bride wore a white silk gown, the bodice of which was embroidered with lace and pearls. The empire waist line bridal gown with short sleeves and scoop neckline, had a two foot sweeping train. She wore a pearl necklace, and carried a gardenia and ivy crescent bouquet.

The maid of honor, Miss Jo Anne Rizzuti, wore a light pink, street length gown of chiffon with matching picture hat, shoes, gloves and carried a bouquet of dark pink roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Mildred Mutter and Miss Carol Steuer, wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor and carried bouquets of light pink roses.

The junior bridesmaid, Alene Anders was also similarly dressed and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The flower girl, Nancy Mule, wore a short pink dress and carried a basket of rose petals.

Robert Blaylock, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer. Dressed in a tuxedo, he had a carnation boutonniere and bore the ring on a satin pillow.

The best man was Kenneth Fulton. The other groom attendants were Robert Heitman and Robert Sorensen. All wore tuxedos.

The bride's mother wore an antique gold sheath gown and sheer silk evening coat to match, gold shoes and net hat. Her corsage was of gardenias. The groom's mother wore a sheath gown with scoop neckline, 3/4 length sleeves, brocade shoes and net hat, all in blue. Her corsage was also gardenias.

Honored guests at the wedding were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Roe. Her maternal grandfather, Hilding A. Anderson, was unable to attend.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. The bride had a white satin tablecloth. A buffet supper was served and tables at which the guests were seated, had silver candelabras and centerpiece. Mrs. William Swisher and Miss Doris Dini cut the 3 tier wedding cake.

The young couple is spending a honeymoon in Florida and will make their home in Tinley Park.

The bride has been employed at Carson Pirie Scott and Company, Chicago. The groom is employed in the research center of the International Harvester Company, Hinsdale.

Cars Get You From Behind as Well as Front

An essential but often neglected factor in safe driving is proper use of the rear view mirror, according to Matthew C. Sielski, director of the Chicago Motor Club's safety and traffic engineering department.

"Traffic hazards are not confined to obstructions and cars in front of drivers," he pointed out. "A good driver keeps himself constantly informed in what is going on behind him by utilizing his rear and side view mirrors at all times."

Sielski cautioned that it is imperative for drivers always to check their rear view mirrors before stopping, slowing down, parking, turning, passing, changing lanes, or pulling out from parking places.

Interior rear view mirrors are standard equipment on all cars, and they are adequate to show you what is directly behind your car, he said. However, Sielski added, these standard mirrors leave a large blind spot in which an entire car positioned just off a driver's left fender can be hidden from view. Unless a driver has a side mirror covering this blind spot, he always should turn his head and look back over his left shoulder before turning left or changing lanes, he said.

"Modern highway and city driving demands frequent use of the rear view mirror," said Sielski. "The rear view mirror is a safety device. It should be used often."

EATS ICE CREAM—

learn English. I visited the second class (12 year olds.) They asked me a few questions but I don't think they understood the answers. We sang and played "Farmer in the Dell" (it was really pretty funny when instead of singing Hi ho the derry, oh, they sang He ho the derry, oh.) We read; played "Buzz" and they insisted I play too, and they had me tell them a fairy tale (Cinderella.)

"In the sixth class, the students asked me some good questions: about segregation, our school systems, holidays, differences between German and American people, Christian Herter, our government, what we do on Sundays, and even about dancing and German authors in America.

"Thursday Gabbi and I went with her class of 28 girls and two teachers on their three day trip to Bamberg, Wurzburg and Nurnberg. We visited many churches, castles and a museum. We took the train to one city where a bus waited for us. We had the same bus and driver for the three days. He took us to Nurnberg where we visited a few churches and bought fruit and tomatoes for our lunch.

"Next we went to a youth hostel. For two nights we would sleep here. At a youth hostel everyone brings his own sheets and towels, soap and food. From this place we were to make side trips to the other towns. It was very hot the three days we were gone. I took my tennis shoes along and wore them all the time as we did so much walking.

"In the evening the teachers took us to Bamberg on foot. The hostel is about a mile outside of the town. We had some ice cream in a beer garden. Finally we got back to the hostel. Everyone who stays at a hostel has to be inside by 9:30 and in bed with lights out at 10:00.

"We rose early the next morning to visit Bamberg. In the afternoon we went swimming.

"The next day we packed everything and loaded it on the bus. We traveled to Wurzburg for a few hours before going back to the town where we caught the train. That town happened to be the bus driver's home so he told the girls if they would sing on the steps of a church he would buy them all ice cream.

After we visited this church and climbed 167 steps to the tower, all the girls stood on the steps in front of the church and sang. Of course, I couldn't very well sing these German songs but the girls wanted me to stand there so I could get

Man Would Open Lumber Yard on Lincoln Highway

The Will county zoning board of appeals is to hold a hearing at Mokena Aug. 25 on the request of a Clark C. Hodges for reclassification of farm land to permit him to operate a lumber yard and building supply business.

The hearing is scheduled for 7:15 o'clock that night and will be held in the Cooper & Hostert garage on Front st. This is the only zoning hearing of the series slated for August which involves property in this area, according to Harold Cooper, of Mokena, a member of the zoning board.

The land is described as being a part of the east half of the southwest quarter of section 20, which would place it on the south side of U. S. 30 a little less than half a mile east of Wolf road. That would be someplace near a motel.

The petitioner describes the piece of property as having a frontage of approximately 336 feet on U. S. 30 and a depth of about 500 feet. It is now classified as farm land. The petitioner wants it zoned I-1. He says that he wants it for a lumber yard but it could be used for any purpose under the I-1 classification, it was pointed out.

The zoning hearing is open to the public and those present have an opportunity to voice objections, if any, to petitions up for hearing.

Ralph T. Moore writes in the Oregon Voter: "National labor control law has been moving into local areas so completely as to virtually preempt all labor controls. Now-a-days, if one's business establishment chances to have a migrating robin light on its roof it becomes interstate and so amenable to federal rather than state law."

some ice cream too.

"Recently, a group of AFsers toured a Mercedes Benz plant. The Langs also took me to Lake Constance for a day. It is between Germany and Switzerland. In the middle of the lake there is an island which has a tropical climate. Trees and plants from all over the world are on the island and it is always warm. There is never snow so lemons and oranges also grow there. We got to swim in the lake, too."

"Miscellaneous" Item Explained -- It's Money Saved

When the treasurer's report for the village of Mokena was filed recently there was one item listed by the auditor who prepared it under the heading "miscellaneous", which caused some stir in the community because of the size of the amount—$18,876.91.

An explanation reveals that the major portion of this sum, $15,993.25 represented village funds which have been invested in 90 day U. S. Treasury notes. The money was not needed immediately so the village is drawing interest on it until it is required. Another item, $1,650, represents payments to a firm of planning engineers for preparing a land use map, various ordinances and advice on guiding the growth of the community.

The remainder included payments on a squad car, legal notices, telephone calls, minor supplies for various departments, auditing municipal league dues and civil defense.

Cardboard Cartons are Set-back to Ancient Art of Whittling

By JOHN W. ALLEN
So. Illinois University

Any older person who goes prowling in out of the way places can find many reminders of a way of life that has all but vanished. Some recent observations reminded the writer of a period of time that could be designated as B.C.C. — before cardboard cartons.

Until about the turn of the century, country storekeepers received most of their merchandise in slack barrels and wooden boxes. The boxes generally were sturdy ones made of straight grained, soft pine boards that nailed easily and whittled well. This method of packing has long since passed in southern Illinois but still is found elsewhere in the world.

A few days ago a sloop dropped anchor in the harbor of a small Caribbean island where the author was vacationing and began to unload goods packed much as they were before cartons made of corrugated cardboard came into use. Seeing the old type of packages brought to mind the times when such containers were common everywhere and incidentally of an era when the whittling fraternity flourished.

The custom of men to whittle as they talked must have been an almost universal one and was abandoned mostly because good whittlin' wood became scarce.

With those who whittled it was more than a casual way to pass time. As they reduced the soft pine boards to symmetrical shavings and chips they likewise whittled away at such problems as those times brought. With his razor sharp, Barlow, the whittler, removed bits of wood with machine-like accuracy, working toward some general shape that gradually assumed definite proportions. At the same time these men were figuratively whittling away at the problems of their day.

Not all the whittlers depended upon packing cases for timber. Some brought it with them. One man is remembered who 'came to class' with a straight even grained, hard maple broomstick which he used as a walking staff. After a week or so of intermittent application of his keen knife the broomstick had become several links of wooden chain, a section of four bars containing nicely rounded wooden balls, an operating hinge, and a frog. All this was done without a break in the broomstick.

From time to time as he whittled, he would pause to offer comments on such subjects as the protective tariff, morals, or how to make good shoestrings out of a ground hog's skin. All in all the men who sat in the shade of the store porch and whittled joined voices to shape a logical working philosophy.

All this makes us believe that it would be helpful to have those who are striving to guide the course of the world's affairs take along a supply of whittlin' wood suitable for amateurs and start to whittle. Of course, among those of top level, there always would be the moot question of who sits where. After all, the men who whittled usually compromised enough to reach reasonably logical conclusions.

In the shipment which we saw arriving at the island store there were two brought back memories of slack barrels. Seeing these the varied used made of them, from feed storage at the barn to hens' nests and hammocks.

Hammocks made of barrel staves were common. To make one four strands of No. 9 wire about 25 feet long were used in weaving the staves together much as a section of picket fencing was made. The curve of the barrel staves gave a comfortable sag toward the middle of the hammock. After forming the hammock it was contrived to hang it between two shade trees. It thus became a comfortable form-adjusting bed, a place where one could go for a brief rest at noonday or after the evening meal. The free circulation of air it afforded made it about as much "air conditioned" as anything the day afforded. If the occupant wished, he could attach a small rope at right angles to the hammock and give it an occasional pull so he would be gently swung to and fro.

After carefully thinking it over, it would be an excellent place to have the diplomats already alluded to relax at least 30 minutes each day in an old time hammock. There they could doze or just lie there and look upward thru leafy branches at the sky or at fleecy clouds floating lazily overhead. Perhaps after whittling for a time and then relaxing in a hammock the most hurried and harried people would find themselves calm enough to compromise on some of the perplexing questions of the day. Such a course might even calm the Russian representatives.

One other calming appliance seen on the trip to and from the island boat landing was numerous rocking chairs in use on cottage porches. Should whittling and hammocks fail to produce results these might be called into service. Since the time when someone coined the phrase "rocking chair money" these delightful old devices have lost caste. Nevertheless the rocking chair was and remains a comforting appliance.

People may have been just as worried and "stewed up" in 1900 as they now are but it isn't remembered that way. Why not revert, at least temporarily, to whittling, lying in hammocks and gently rocking in chairs made for the purpose? People still doing so don't seem half so worried as we.

(CNS) A South Suburban man has been arrested by federal agents on a charge of moonshining.

Petroleum Week finds that the oil industry, despite the general economy's vigorous upswing, is continuing its recession triggered drive to cut production costs. Companies are standardizing equipment, demanding better quality of pipes and other materials, making more efficient use of manpower and machinery and pressing the search for improved tools and techniques. The reasons: profits are being squeezed between rising costs and stable prices, and companies have realized that many economies forced by the recession make sound business sense no matter what the economic outlook is.

According to a Newsweek feature article, our mail often travels no faster than it did 99 years ago. The magazine calls "staggering" the post office's use of hand labor, and reports that every piece of mail must be picked up, read, and put somewhere an average of 12 times. Many post office methods stand untouched from the day when Benjamin Franklin was sworn in as the first Postmaster General in 1775.

One of the 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any other car in its field

Anyone who's ever taken a Chevy over a choppy country road can tell you how lightly Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension handles rough going—and coil springs never squeak, never need grease! Try this velvet way of going for yourself. Once you do, you'll find your own way of saying what MOTOR TREND magazine puts this way: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But the happiest part of it all is that this Full Coil ride is just one of seven big bests—all documented by published opinions of experts and on-the-record facts and figures.

BEST ROOM—Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* show that Chevrolet sedans offer more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars—more front seat hip room (by up to 5.9 inches) than the "other two" of the leading low-priced three.

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise from virtually every automobile magazine, and just recently, Chevrolet received the N.A.S.C.A.R. Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ECONOMY—A pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide won their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, topping every other full-sized car. And the winning mileage was a whopping 22.38 m.p.g.

BEST BRAKES—Chevy's bonded-lining brakes are the biggest in their field, built for up to 66% longer life. In a direct competition conducted by N.A.S.C.A.R., Chevy out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars in a test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST TRADE-IN—Any N.A.D.A.† Guide Book can give you the figures on Chevy's extra value. You'll find that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." Your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to tell you about a whole host of other advantages besides these seven. Why not drop by his showroom?

Al: "Sounds kinda rich for my blood. What does it cost you to run?"

Bill: "Not half what you'd expect. We figure it averages out at about 2½ cents a meal. This is maybe a fraction of a cent more than our old stove, but for my money it's worth it. Hey, here comes the coffee!"

Let The Buyer Beware

A friend of ours dropped by over the weekend to recount an experience growing out of an automobile purchase.

It had been a used car and he had purchased it in Chicago on contract. The salesman, who apparently was a high ranking amateur hypnotist, sang the praises of the car in such glowing lyrics, interlarded with promises of guarantees, warranties that when he had finished our friend was so entranced that all the salesman had to do was shove some papers in front of him, say "sign here," and after extracting the down payment, chivvied the victim out into the car and out of the lot.

Our friend soon discovered that the car, like the salesman's promises, fell far short of performance.

After having been marooned along the highways several times because of car failures and being compelled to spend substantial sums of money to get the heap going again, our friend went to the dealer to protest.

How about some adjustments, he wanted to know. He mentioned the warranties, the guarantees and the other promises of the salesman. The dealer looked puzzled. Had our friend not made a mistake? Perhaps he had purchased the car up the street. This dealer had heard there was a dealer there who sometimes took advantage of buyers by making a lot of promises. . . . He was sure this was the place. . . . He had made payments there? . . . Oh, he had a contract? Hm-m, well that was simple then. . . . let's see what the contract had to say.

The contract, perusal disclosed, was concerned chiefly with the time, place and amount of payments and what all could happen to the car buyer in the event such payments were not made. None of it was good. As far as warranties and guarantees were concerned there was no room in the contract for such, even with the fine print employed.

The car itself continued to give trouble, our friend says. The only good thing about it, he claimed, was that it eliminated the necessity of any tests for deafness. Anyone within half a mile radius of the car when the engine was going who couldn't hear it was deaf indeed, he contended.

When he first got the car it ran quietly enough but in a week it developed a shrill whistle and shortly after that the motor began to sound for all the world like a concrete mixer, including the thumps with a hammer to loosen dried material before beginning a new day's run. After that, our friend related, the car really got noisy.

He went back to the dealer several times but he only thing he was willing to do, our friend said, was to make repairs at the regular scale on labor and material and not charge him anything for the mental anguish suffered by the mechanics who were forced to work on this clunker.

Our friend's patience, finally wore out and one day he took the car back to the dealer and left it there, stating that he had had it.

Weeks passed. Occasionally a representative called him to urge payment per terms of the contract. Our friend protested that he did not want the car and would pay no more on it. The dealer indicated that he didn't care whether he drove it or not—just so he paid for it.

The final upshot was that the dealer went to court to collect the unpaid balance, plus various and sundry charges including one for repossession, which seemed a bit greedy when one considers that the car had been delivered to his door and left there with the keys.

Not only did he take measures to collect but saw to it that our friend's other creditors were informed, apparently with the idea that they too would take action.

It took our friend practically a day to call on other merchants, explain the situation and assure them their accounts would be settled regularly on the same basis as they had been in the past.

They expressed their sympathy and their confidence. One of them went further.

"These are strange times," he told our friend. "At one time honesty and integrity were the things that counted in most businesses. Now some are so greedy for the dollars that they have substituted ethics for honesty and integrity."

"And I might add that some of these people have pushed ethics so far over that they just manage to stay inside the law, and that's all."

"If I find myself in a place now where I am assured that the firm is a stickler for ethical practices, I put on my hat and get out as quickly as possible, after a hurried check to make sure that my shirt is still on my back and my wallet is intact.

"You, my friend, appear to be in trouble. I hesitate to give this advice but it seems to me it is the only thing to do. Go to one of these loan companies and borrow two thirds of the amount the car dealer demands. He will settle for that. Then with your credit clear and shining again, go to a bank and make a loan and pay off the loan firm before it kills you with interest. Then save your money so when you buy another car you can pay cash for it or can get the rest of what's needed from a bank."

Our friend took this advice. He got a loan post offices so that every community would be able to exchange mail with its neighbors in a day's time.

If the post office continues to use trucks to deliver mail as is done in this area we doubt very much that the postmaster general's program will be successful.

A person living in Mokena, for example, who expects to get 24 hour delivery on a letter destined for Tinley Park or Orland Park had better see to it himself.

It will take Uncle Sam days to get it to either place by truck.

It would arrive much faster if the letter writer walked to both towns, accompanied by two small children with all their zest for side excursions and long rest periods.

Now if the postmaster general said that a letter mailed at Mokena today for Zanzibar would be delivered there tomorrow we could believe him but if he would say that a letter mailed in Mokena today would be delivered at Tinley Park tomorrow we would be quite skeptical.

From Mokena to Tinley is approximately eight miles, which everyone in this space age should be ready to admit is not such a "fur piece." But if one follows the route for mail it is 80 miles, which is more than a brisk walk in any language.

First off it has to travel 12 miles to Joliet. Then from Joliet to Chicago is another 40 and from Chicago to Tinley is generally conceded to be approximately 28 miles. Put them all together and they spell eighty.

The post office points with pride to its air mail service and there is no disputing the fact that planes cover dis-

—two thirds of the sum demanded — and as was predicted the dealer settled the account, gave him a release and the contract. He then made a loan at a bank and paid off the loan company.

Now he is in good shape again financially and physically.

"And it's a good thing I am in shape physically," he said, "because this auto dealer stopped me the other day urged me to come and look at a car. It was in wonderful condition, and a bargain, he said. We will treat you right, he added, because we are an A-1 ethical firm."

"When he said that I was glad I was in condition because I turned around and ran like blazes. It was my early foot that saved me."

tances quite speedily. But the truck that takes over after the plane lands slows it down satisfactorily so the recipients of the mail will not get any funny ideas about fast deliveries.

If the use of trucks in transporting mail is supposed to be more efficient then we would like to see a return to inefficient ways when a train traveling to Chicago dropped off mail at New Lenox, Mokena, Tinley Park and vice versa when west bound.

In the meantime the post office department's efficiency experts might start training a flock of parrots to carry the mail. We have no intention of taking anything away from the talents of the carrier pigeon. They have served man long and well.

We suggest the parrot only for the reason that should he get lost while braving rain, and snow and sleet, he can stop at some house to make inquiries and at the same time warm his wings and feet.

Forty-three per cent of the assets of public pension funds in California are invested in public utility bonds and debentures. With 600,000 active and retired members, says a publication of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co., these funds have combined assets totaling almost $2.4 billion, a sum greater than the assets of all but 10 of the nation's largest banking institutions.

The pooling of international effort in the great movement toward improved health for all mankind will highlight the Second World conference on Medical Education to be held in Chicago Aug. 29-Sept. 4. Medical educators from fifty countries will take part.

Among the odd bits of information that come to this desk in the course of the day's grist of mail was a small item concerning that subject.

An article from Newsweek was quoted stating that mail today moves no faster than it did 99 years ago.

Mail is handled an average of 12 times in a post office, it was said. The article made note of the fact that Benjamin Franklin was named the first postmaster general in 1775.

It would seem at times that his successors have been of a mind that what was good enough for Ben was good enough for them.

Recently the post office department has given out stories to the newspapers that the current postmaster general has set up a system of regional

By WILLIAM F. WHITESIDE
Cook Co. Asst. Farm Adviser
The South Cook 4-H Fair will be held this Saturday, Aug. 15 at the Rolling Acres Farm, 159th st. and Central ave. The fair will feature exhibits by 4-H club members. These exhibits are representative of the project work carried on throughout the year by more than 250 4-H club members throughout southern Cook county.

During the day, the exhibits will be judged and premiums awarded to the 4-H members. In the evening, the grand champion winners will be recognized and receive trophies, and the 4-H King and Queen will be crowned.

The finalists are: King, Darrell Erickson, Mokena; Larry Heusmann, Chicago Heights; Jack Utke, Markham; Walter Wille, Tinley Park. Queen — Julia Dyrce, Blue Island; Marjorie Kimmel and Barbara Mancke, Tinley Park; Anita Wetzel, Chicago Heights. Why not plan to attend the 4H

Fair and share this important day with Cook County 4-H club members?

Walter Wille, Tinley Park, will give a demonstration at the State Fair in Springfield. The title of the demonstration is "A Quick Method for Germinating Seeds." Walter has given this demonstration before several groups in this county and it was selected as the best demonstration at the 4-H contest held recently.

The oat variety trial on the Raymond Bernard farm, harvested recently, revealed the following varieties as high yielders: Minhafer, Clintland, Nemaha, Clintland 60, and Newton. These varieties have been recommended for the past two years to the farmers in this county as being the best adapted and most disease resistant of the oat varieties available. The newcomer on the scene is Clintland 60, and it is very similar to the Clintland, with the exception that it carries additional rust resistance. Farmers growing oats are encouraged to shift from the Clintland variety to the Clintland 60, to take advantage of this improved disease resistance. Lowest yielding variety in the trial was Clinton. I can't think of any good reason why farmers should continue to use the Clinton variety when other varieties with additional disease resistance are available.

The soybean variety trial on the Henry Andresen farm, 167th street west of Wolf rd., is growing nicely. In a few weeks you will be able to notice the extreme earliness of the Chippewa variety. If you are in the neighborhood, stop in and take a look at these soybean varieties.

A Livingston county dairy man found that a hay conditioner enabled him to make better quality hay which the cows ate more readily. About 20% of all farmers with herds enrolled in DHIA now have hay conditioners to help them make top-quality hay.

Rabies Still Potential Problem

Fewer Illinois dogs have rabies today than ever before, thanks to an effective vaccination program. But a University of Illinois veterinarian says that rabies still presents a potential hazard.

Dr. T. R. B. Barr points out that progress in controlling rabies has resulted from a 1952 Illinois law making vaccination compulsory. Largely because of this measure, the number of rabies cases positively identified in Illinois dogs has dropped sharply. In fact, the number dropped from 250,300 annually before 1953 to only 9 in 1958.

Rabies is still a potential problem however. Fewer than half the estimated Illinois dog population of more than 600,000 were vaccinated in 1958. In addition, wild animals appear to serve as a rabies reservoir. Unvaccinated dogs and rabid wild animals would be the combination that could make rabies a serious problem again.

Rabies is a problem in still another way. If given a chance to develop, this disease is 100 per cent fatal in people and animals. But, to contract rabies, a person or animal must be bitten by a rabid animal, as rabies is spread by saliva entering the body thru a break in the skin.

Because domestic animals, especially dogs, come into daily contact with people, Dr. Barr has the following advice for dog owners:

1. Have your dog vaccinated each year as required by state law, and keep it from straying.
2. Advise local authorities when you notice any dog or wild animal (including bats) acting strangely. Don't handle such animals, and be sure children stay away from them.
3. Wash the wound of any person bitten by an animal. Use plenty of soap and water. Take the person to a doctor immediately.
4. Have someone experienced in handling suspect animals catch the animal and take it to a veterinarian for examination.

THIS, TOO, IS TEXAS EASTERN
It Takes A Million Miles Of Driving Every Month To Run Texas Eastern

If you live anywhere near a Texas Eastern pipeline—either our gas transmission system or our "Little Big Inch" petroleum products pipeline—chances are you see a goodly number of motor vehicles bearing the familiar double-circle Texas Eastern insignia.

Statistics say you should. In a month—according to our Transportation Department—some 850 Texas Easterners drive company vehicles more than a million miles on company business.

They do it in 395 passenger cars of varied types, 317 trucks (also assorted)—and on one motorcycle.

This explains—partly—why the Texas Eastern Transportation Department of some 60 persons has about 35 qualified mechanics on the roster.

They perform a continuing ritual, called "preventive maintenance," designed to keep every piece of equipment in top operating condition. And they are as concerned with the appearance of equipment as with its performance. Texas Eastern cars are always shiny and clean—inside and out.

This care for appearance is more than just a "nice idea." Somehow—when you put an average driver behind the wheel of a car he can be proud of—one that runs well and looks handsome—that driver becomes a superior operator, considerate of others and of the machine he's driving.

So, we don't know whether our long-life equipment record is 90% due to good mechanical care and 10% to good driving—or vice versa. But we do know this: we average 70,000 miles of operation per vehicle—generally without a major overhaul. And last year, not a single accident occurred that was chargeable to equipment failure.

All of which puts a big gold star on the report card of the Texas Eastern Transportation Department—in the eyes of safety engineers, auditors, stockholders, and...we truly hope...you neighbors who are sharing highways, byways and city streets with our drivers.

This is one of a series of monthly reports on the diversified activities of Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation.

Federal Tax System Unsound, Unfair, Needs Revision--Mason

By CONGRESSMAN N. M. MASON

Not for many years has there been a greater protest from the grass roots against spending and taxes than there has been during this term of congress. We have been deluged with mail protesting against heavy taxes and wild spending.

Our federal tax system has grown up like "Topsy"—in a haphazard, illogical, hit-and-miss way, without rhyme or reason. It has been developed by placing patch upon patch upon patch. Today our federal tax system is unsound, inequitable and unfair. Some thing should be done to lighten the oppressive load of taxation upon the American people and to spread the tax load more equitably over the various segments of our economy.

Cong. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the ways and means committee, plans to hold extensive public hearings this fall in an effort to overhaul the Internal Revenue Code to: (1) broaden the tax base; (2) eliminate special tax privileges; (3) spread the tax load more equitably; and (4) reduce the tax burden upon individuals and corporations.

That is an ambitious tax program—a tax program that will require all the ability, the astuteness and the knowledge of Congressman Mills and of the members of his committee if it is to be successful.

Present privileged tax groups will oppose the removal of their tax privileges. They are not interested in an attempt to spread the total tax load more equitably over the different segments of our economy.

If the present tax base can be broadened, it would mean real relief from high individual income taxes and corporation taxes. These could be and should be greatly reduced.

Both Congressman Mills and the writer who is a member of the committee feel that if broadening the tax base and removing special tax privileges are tied together in the same bill with a real reduction in individual income tax and corporate tax rates, the tax reform bill would get enough support to pass with a comfortable majority. It would mean some 45 million individual taxpayers, as well as corporations, would be lined up in support of the bill to offset the special privileged tax groups who would oppose the bill. Forty five million individual taxpayers yelling for and demanding real tax relief would more than offset the opposition that special privileged tax groups could bring to bear.

Broadening the tax base, removing special tax privileges, and spreading the tax load more equitably have been for many years the objectives of the writer. Now that the chairman of the Ways and Means committee is advocating the same thing, perhaps there is some hope that progress in that direction will be made.

Uncle Sam's Credit Slip Showing

Uncle Sam is embarrassed. His "credit slip" is showing. Uncle Sam's credit today—judged by the doubled interest rates he has to pay over what he paid two years ago—has been cut in half.

When a private corporation goes deeper and deeper into debt, it has to shop around for investment capital and pay a higher interest rate in order to get the needed money. What is true of a private corporation in the money market is also true of the federal government—the greatest corporation on earth. The federal government has been going deeper and deeper into debt during the past 20 years. Confidence in the financial stability of the government has been shaken; fiscal irresponsibility has been evident in Congressional spending, with destructive inflation as the overall result.

This affects all wage earners, all pensioners and annuitants, all salaried workers—in fact, all consumers. Unless inflation is halted Uncle Sam may have to resort to forced bond buying—a desperate device, not nice to contemplate.

Late Summer Is Best Time to Renovate Lawns, Says Expert

By JAMES FIZZELL
Assistant Farm Adviser

Late summer is one of the best times to renovate old lawns. If the job is started in August, and the lawn seeded by September, the fall growth plus the growth the next spring will produce a turf thick enough to keep out crab grass, and make it difficult for weeds to get started.

Probably the most important step in renovating a lawn is the removal of all weeds. If there are few weeds in the lawn, or if the lawn is quite small, the weeds can be pulled. For large or very weedy lawns, the chemical weed killers are almost a necessity. Broad-leaved weeds, such as dandelions, plantain, or chickweed can be killed with 2,4-D, 2,4,5-T or combinations of the two. Be sure to use these materials with care, as they will seriously injure or even kill broadleaved flowers, shrubs, or vegetables. It is best to apply weed killers at a time when there is no wind so that there is no chance for the fumes to drift to desirable plants. The new dry forms of these materials now on the market considerably lessen the danger of damage.

Crabgrass can be killed with disodium methyl arsenate, potassium cyanate, or certain other compounds specially formulated for this purpose. Several treatments may be necessary. Undesirable perennial grasses such as the tall fescues can be spot treated with grease killers such as Dowpon; however, unless the entire lawn is to be killed, Dowpon must be used with care as it kills desirable as well as weedy grasses.

After the weeds have been killed, the lawn should be raked thoroughly to loosen the upper crust of soil and tear up the mat of dried grass. Low places in the lawn should be filled in with fine topsoil.

Ten days to two weeks after the last weed killer treatment the lawn can be fertilized, and grub proofing materials applied. Fertilizer of 10-10-10, 8-6, or similar analysis should be applied at the rate of ten pounds per 1000 square feet of lawn. Lead arsenate, ten pounds per 1000 square feet, or chlordane, 1/4 pound for the same area will control earthworms and grubs. Chlordane also controls ants, chiggers and webworms.

Seed with a grass suited to the location. In Northern Illinois, Kentucky bluegrass is probably the best adapted grass for lawns. The variety Merion blue is just as well suited, but is more expensive and may be more susceptible to certain diseases. If the lawn is quite shady, it may be necessary to sow a mixture containing 25% fine-leaved fescue and 75% bluegrass.

The seed should be sown at one half the rate recommended for new lawns. Roll after seeding to smooth the surface and firm the seed into the soil. Water immediately after rolling, but wet only the upper inch of soil. When the soil is again dry, water once a day until two weeks after the seed has germinated. After two weeks, watering every day is no longer necessary, and more water can be applied at each watering. After the middle of October, there will probably be sufficient moisture in the soil so that watering will not be required.

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND
The stock market reacted to the coming visit of the Russian leader to this country and our President's visit to Russia, with the thought that the cold war might be eased somewhat. Stocks of manufacturers of electronics, airplanes, missiles and new combustion fuels, etc., declined in value in proportion to their dependence on government defense spending.

A number of these industries are heavily dependent on government spending and, therefore, nervous as to any downward change in this volume of spending. This country went thru the same sort of cycle in 1955 when another rash of world peace hopes was in the headlines. We cut back defense spending and lost our position somewhat.

Vice President Nixon has tried to stop such an expensive and ill advised move by pointing out that these visits are likely to have little immediate impact on the cold war needs. He advised that the cold war would probably continue for 25 or 30 years.

Modern wars bring about great strides in scientific achievements as governments search frantically for new and better methods of defense. These scientific achievements usually bring about civilian progress in these fields, but only government spending can attain these developments under forced draft.

Some of the firms most vulnerable to changes in public attitude toward defense spending are comparative new comers in the national investment markets. Some have had spectacular growth and attracted investors seeking a quick profit. This type of investor is as quick to sell as he is to buy.

Many investors doubt there is likely to be much permanent change in defense spending in the field of electronics and other scientific areas.

Former President Hoover on the eve of his 85th birthday (Aug. 10) states: "We won World War II with our fighting forces and lost the peace with our confused diplomacy." He goes on to state, "we should have no part in appeasing Soviet Russia as our defense lies in ingenious

Village Players Announce Dates Of Future Plays

The Palos Village players are now completing plans for the 1959-1960 season. Their objective is to bring the best theatre possible to the south-west area.

A new policy of announcing the dates for all plays at the beginning of the season is being inaugurated. The plays will be presented Oct. 16, 17, 18; Dec. 4, 5, 6; March 18, 19, 20 and May 20, 21 & 22. With all the dates established in advance, reservations can be made for the entire season.

The plays have been carefully selected to include a comedy, mystery, serious play and a musical.

The directors will be Everett Wyatt, Mrs. A. Logan Wilson, Zay Smith and Mrs. Walter Cott. With these very talented and versatile directors already working on their plays, each production will be a pleasurable event.

At the last board meeting, President Zay Smith announced that each board member had conscientiously pledged to spare no effort in making this a theatrically successful year for the Palos Village players.

weapons rather than in military manpower." Mr. Hoover strongly advises against appeasement and stated, "Our purposes were confused in both wars by crusades with glorious phrases about the personal freedom of man. We departed from our true path and left many nations in such a plight as to become the prey of others...."

Some analysts believe the present Russian activity is aimed at securing large credits and supplies from us which they need and that a public fearing war, will back this development here. Russia has been losing the cold war and cannot insulate her own people and the captive nations from the disparity in living standards.

Harris Trust and Savings Bank August issue of Barometer of Business expects business expansion to continue for some time. They point out that the average length of the 25 business recoveries in the last 100 years have been nearly double the life of the present expansion.

The publication states that sufficient steel inventories exist to enable business activities to continue at high level for at least six weeks.

It also points out that in the three previous post war steel strikes lasting more than 30 days, the broad measures of business activity showed little weakness.

New "Famous American" Stamp Honoring Doctor Due in December

INS New Famous 2-24 dQO Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has authorized the issuance of a "Famous American" postage stamp honoring Dr. Ephraim McDowell.

This stamp, to be printed in a quantity of 120 million in maroon on white paper, will be 0.85 by 0.98 inches in dimension, arranged vertically, printed by the rotary process, electric eye perforated and issued in sheets of 70.

This "Famous American" stamp will feature a likeness of Dr. McDowell and will be issued in December, 1959, at Danville, Ky. on the 150th anniversary of the first successful abdominal operation to be recorded anywhere in the world.

The Dr. McDowell stamp will be an addition to stamps issued in 1940 honoring American scientists, including John James Audubon, Dr. Crawford W. Long, Luther Burbank, Dr. Walter Reed and Jane Addams.

In 1958 the Noah Webster stamp was added to the group honoring famous American educators as a part of the "Famous American" series.

First day covers canceled at Massena, N. Y. on June 26, 1959 when the 4 cent Saint Lawrence Seaway commemorative postage stamp was first placed on sale, totaled 543,211. In all 797,920 stamps were sold the first day, with a value of $31,916.80.

The total number of first-day covers canceled during the first six months of 1959 is 6,771,465 an increase of 3,476,725 over the same period in 1958, according to Postmaster Summerfield.

There were 523,773 first day covers canceled at Auburn, N. Y. on July 4, 1959 when the 4-cent 49 star American Flag stamp was placed on sale there. In all 919,921 stamps were sold with a value of $36,796.84.

Five slogan cancellations have been authorized by the Post Office Department. One, to be used at Elkins, West Va. Sept. 1 thru October 4, 1959, will bear the wording "Moun-

The Grant Park musical spotlight will be focused on Brazil on Aug. 19. Brazilian cellist Aldo Parisot will appear as soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under the baton of another Brazilian, Eleazar de Carvalho. They will perform a concerto by the late Brazilian composer Heitor Villa-Lobos.

The concert is one of many special programs in connection with the Festival of the Americas and the III Pan American Games, according to Arnold H. Maremont, chairman of the festival. Mayor Daley and the Chicago Park District combined to make the festival concert series possible.

Both Parisot and de Carvalho have achieved positions of the international stature in their respective fields of music. Their appearance together is reminiscent of Parisot's United States debut in 1947, when he appeared at the famous Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood as soloist under the direction of de Carvalho.

During the past season, Parisot has made two tours of Europe, a four week concert tour of Alaska and appearances throughout the country with orchestra and in recital. He plays a Stradivarius cello, dated 1730, and called the "Last" Stradivarius cello by some authorities who claim it

Expert Tells How to Freeze Sweet Corn

Freezing, when properly done, is a highly satisfactory method of preserving sweet corn. Corn retains more of its original flavor, value, texture and nutritive value when frozen than when preserved in any other way, according to Frances O. VanDuyne, of the home economics department of the U. of I.

"The first step in freezing, she says, is to select only high quality corn. Freezing does not improve corn and may even magnify its undesirable characteristics. So avoid over-mature or starchy corn, or corn that is not yet mature.

"After picking, remove the husks and silks. Wash the ears in clean, cold water. Discard any ears that are injured, bruised or otherwise not up to standard.

"All corn should be blanched before freezing so that it will retain its original quality and flavor. Place 8 medium sized ears into 5 quarts of boiling water for about 8 minutes. Then cool the ears immediately by plunging them into cold water. Make sure the cobs as well as the corn cool sufficiently.

"If you wish to remove the corn from the cob, do so after it is blanched. After cooling, drain thoroughly and pack. Make sure the containers are moisture vapor proof.

"Store the corn at 0 degrees F. or lower."

For more information on freezing vegetables and fruits, one may write to the Office of Information, 110 Mumford hall University of Illinois, Urbana, and ask for a copy of Circular 602, "How to Prepare Fruits and Vegetables for Freezing."
